BARDEHLE PAGENBERG continues to expand its team with experienced specialists

BARDEHLE PAGENBERG is strengthening its team with further notable new hires in the first half of 2024.

Johannes Lang, Managing Partner of BARDEHLE PAGENBERG, is very pleased about the new additions to the team: “In Dr. Albert Lindner, we have found a senior consultant who scores with his experience as former chairman of a Technical Board of Appeal at the European Patent Office and who now fills an outstanding advisory role in our firm.” He further states that BARDEHLE PAGENBERG’s international strategy, the development and expansion of its network in Asia and especially in Japan, “has gained additional momentum with the arrival of attorney Nobuchika Mamine, coupled with intercultural expertise”. Johannes Lang adds, “Our team in the life science and biotechnology sector is also constantly developing, keeping pace with the growing importance of the market. We are therefore delighted that we can now also draw on the scientific expertise of Dr. Markus Ackermann.”

Dr. Albert Lindner, confirming his new role as Senior Consultant, says, “Having worked as a judge for many years, the opportunity to make my experience available to renowned patent attorneys and attorneys-at-law is a first-class challenge for me that I am very pleased to accept.”

Nobuchika Mamine is delighted to now be part of the patent litigation team and to be able to contribute his experience as a patent litigator: “Here at BARDEHLE PAGENBERG, there is a perfect synergy between the expertise of each individual and the close cooperation between lawyers and patent attorneys. I am convinced that the team is optimally positioned to meet the high requirements of the UPC.”

Dr. Markus Ackermann on his reasons for moving from ter Meer Steinmeister Partner: “Working in the highly attuned team of attorneys-at-law and patent attorneys at BARDEHLE PAGENBERG and being immediately involved in the new cases before the UPC has motivated me to further develop my career here.”
